Riddle #5

Innovation

My name is Albert Einstein and I was born in Germany in 1879. All in all, I was a pretty average student, but I did excel in Mathematics. I developed the Theory of Relativity and even won the Nobel Prize in Physics. I was offered to serve as the first president of the State of Israel, but I relinquished this honor, knowing full well that a president must be good in dealing with people, whereas I was only good at inventing things and thinking up new ideas...

To solve the riddle, you can only choose Israeli inventions for your shopping basket.
